

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A beam formation circuit and an apparatus and a method of receiving radio frequency signals making use of a smart antenna are described in which the amount
5 of computation tasks required for the weight calculation is significantly reduced. In realizing the directivity of the smart antenna, the output signals corresponding to a plurality of sub-carriers are weighted with a common antenna weight for each of the antenna elements.